For Sale or Lease,

THE following tracts of land in Charles county, Maryland: one lying on the Potomac, at the mouth of Pomonkey creek, containing three hundred and forty acres, about 16 miles from Alexandria, the larger portion level land, of a stiff soil, well adapted to the cultivation of corn, wheat and tobacco, and equal in fertility to any in the neighborhood. On this farm is one of the most elegant sites for building of all those fine heights which border the Potomac, commanding the most extensive view of the adjacent country, both in Virginia and Maryland, for more than twenty miles up and down the river: located in a genteel neighborhood, it would make an agreeable residence, and from its proximity to market, with the advantage of the best navigation, an extremely profitable farm.—The tenant's houses would accommodate the negroes for its cultivation.

A Tract, about one mile back from the former, containing 334 acres, a large portion in wood, white and red oak, and some chesnut; the remainder a tenement in tolerable repair, the whole a high stiff soil, similar to the one above mentioned.

A Tract, lying at the mouth of Mattawoman Creek, about 25 miles from Alexandria, the whole first rate flat river land, now completely enclosed.—On this tract is a noted fishery, called Rum Point, at which there has been cleared upwards of two thousand dollars per annum, and where independent of the fish sold on the shore, there might be put up from one to two thousand barrels every season; besides the profits of the fishery, the advantage of manuring the farm with the offal of the shore, the whole, with a small portion of industry, might be made to produce ten barrels of corn per acre. On the shore, are a dwelling house, houses for holding salt, and curing any quantity of fish, and for the accommodation of hands.

A Tract, lying about 14 miles from the last mentioned, containing 230 acres, more than 200 of which are in wood, and would cut from 25 to 30 cords per acre, within one mile of the river, where wood has rarely sold for less than five dollars per cord. It will be divided into 50 or 25 acre lots, to suit purchasers.—If preferred, the wood will be sold standing, for so much per acre.

If not disposed of, previous to the first day of Sept. next, the above mentioned arable lands, will be leased out, upon advantageous terms, for five or seven years, at the option of the lessees.

Application to be made to the subscriber, residing near the head of Mattawoman Creek, Charles county, Maryland.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 14. 1819.

A FRIEND OF THE CONSTITUTION.

No. VIII.

The last accusation brought against the supreme court, is, a violation of the constitution, by deciding a cause not within its jurisdiction.

Grave as is this charge, the question is still more important to the people than to the judges. It more deeply concerns the prosperity of the union, the due execution of its laws, and even its preservation, that its courts should possess the jurisdiction Hampden denies them, than it does the character of the judges, to stand acquitted of usurpation.

Before I proceed to examine this question, I must be allowed to express some surprize at its not having occurred to the counsel for the state of Maryland. The talents of those gentlemen are universally acknowledged; and, if we may judge of their zeal by the specimens of their arguments given in the opinion of the court, they made every point which judgment, ingenuity, or imagination could suggest, on which a decent self respect would permit them to insist. How happened it, then, that this point of jurisdiction escaped them?

A brief consideration of the subject will, I am persuaded, solve this difficulty.

The reasoning on which this objection seems to be founded, proceeds from the fundamental error, that our constitution is a mere league, or a compact, between the several state governments, and the general government. Under the influence of this unaccountable delusion, he makes some quotations from Vattel, favorable to the choice of a foreign government as an umpire to decide controversies which may arise between the government of the union and those of the states. "The princes of Neufchatel" we are informed, "established in 1406, the canton of Berne, the judge and perpetual arbitrator of their disputes."

Were the petty princes of Neufchatel united under one paramount government having a constitutional power to adjust their differences, or were they only in alliance with each other? Was there any analogy between their situation and that of the United States? This at least ought to be shown by him who holds up to us their example for imitation.

He tells us also, on the same authority, "that among sovereigns who acknowledge no superior, treaties form the only mode of adjusting their several pretensions;" and "that neither of the contracting parties has a right to interpret the pact or treaty, at his pleasure."

There is no difficulty in admitting this doctrine. The only difficulty consists in discerning its application to the United States. It applies to independent sovereigns, who stand in no relation to each other, but that which is created by the general law of nations, and by treaty.—Has Hampden succeeded in convincing his fellow citizens that this is the condition of the American states?

Without pressing further the total inapplicability of these historical facts, and general principles, to our situation; or urging the weakness and danger of introducing into our system, a foreign potentate as the arbiter of our domestic disputes, I will proceed to examine the question of jurisdiction on its real grounds.

I will premise that the constitution of the United States is not an alliance, or a league, between independent sovereigns; nor a compact between the government of the union, and those of the states; but is itself a government, created for the nation by the whole American people, acting by convention assembled in and for their respective states. It does not possess a single feature belonging to a league, as contradistinguished from a government. A league is formed by the sovereigns who become members of it; our constitution is formed by the people themselves, who have adopted it without employing, in that act, the agency of the state legislatures. The measures of a league are carried into execution by the sovereigns who compose it; the measures of our national government are carried into execution by itself, without requiring the agency of the states. The representatives of sovereigns in league with each other, act in subordination to those sovereigns, and under their particular instructions; the government of the union, "within its sphere of action," is "supreme"; and, although its laws should be in direct opposition to the instructions of every state legislature in the union, they are "the supreme law of the land, any thing in the constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding." This government has all the departments, and all the capacities for performing its various functions, which a free people is accustomed to bestow on its government. It is not then, in any point of view a league.

As little does it resemble a compact between itself and its members.

A contract is "an agreement on sufficient consideration to do or not to do a particular thing"

There must be parties. These parties must make an agreement, and something must proceed to and from each.

The government of the United States can certainly not be a party to the instrument by which it was created. It cannot have been concerned in making that by which it was brought into existence.

Neither have the state governments made this instrument. It is the act of the people themselves, and not the act of their governments.

There is then no agreement formed between the government of the United States and those of the states. Our constitution is not a compact. It is the act of a single party. It is the act of the people of the United States, assembling in their respective states, and adopting a government for the whole nation. Their motives for this act are assigned by themselves. They have specified the objects they intended to accomplish, and have enumerated the powers with which those objects were to be accomplished.

All arguments founded on leagues and compacts, must be fallacious when applied to a government like this. We are to examine the powers actually conferred by the people on their government; and the capacities bestowed upon it for the execution of those powers.

This government possesses a judicial department; which, like the others, is erected by the people of the United States. It is not a partial, local tribunal, but one which is national.

For what purpose was this department created?

Before we look into the constitution for an answer to this question, let any reasonable man ask himself what must have been the primary motive of a people forming a national government for endowing it with a judicial department? Must it not have been the desire of having a tribunal for the decision of all national questions? If questions which concern the nation might be submitted to the local tribunals no motive could exist for establishing this national tribunal. Such is the language of reason. What is the language of the constitution?

"The judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity, arising under this constitution, the laws of the United States, & treaties made or to be made under their authority."

Cases then arising under the constitution, and under the laws and treaties of the U States, are, as was to be expected, the objects which stood first in the mind of the framers of the constitution.

Is the case of M'Cullough against the state of Maryland of this description?

Only two points appear to have been made by the defendant in the argument.

1st. That the act of congress establishing the bank is unconstitutional and void.

2d. That the act of the legislature of Maryland is constitutional, and consequently obligatory.

It was then a case arising under the constitution. Let us hear how Hampden contrives to withdraw it from the jurisdiction of the court."

He relies first on certain authorities which he quotes as being favorable to his opinion. In the Federalist, he says, "the supremacy of either party in such cases" ("there clashings between the respective governments") "seems to be denied."

If he seems to say no more than that the positive supremacy of an act of Congress, until it shall be tried by the standard of the constitution, is denied, he is undoubtedly correct. But the application of this opinion to the jurisdiction of the court cannot readily be perceived.

If he means to say that the jurisdiction of the supremacy of the judicial department, in cases of this description, "seems to be denied" by the Federalist, he is as certainly incorrect.

The writers of that valuable treatise allow a concurrent jurisdiction in such cases, except so far as that of the state courts may be restrained by congress; but the supremacy of the courts of the United States, is expressly recognized. In the 80th No. they are full and explicit to the point, that the courts of the Union have, and ought to have jurisdiction, in all cases, arising under the constitution and laws of the United States. After laying down a political axiom, the propositions that the judicial department should be co-extensive with the legislative, and with the provisions of the constitution, the Federalist says "thirteen independent courts of final jurisdiction over the same causes, arising upon the same laws, is a hydra in government from which nothing but contradiction and confusion can proceed.

Still less may be said in regard to the then point. Controversies between the nation and its members, or citizens, can only be properly referred to the national tribunals."

In the 82d No. speaking of the concurrent jurisdiction of the different courts, he adds, "here another question occurs—what relation would subsist between the national and state courts, in these instances of concurrent jurisdiction? I answer that an appeal would certainly lie to the supreme court of the United States." The writer then proceeds to give his reasons for this opinion:

It is then most certain that the Federalist, does not "seem to deny," but does expressly affirm, that the jurisdiction and supremacy of the courts of the United States, in "all cases arising under the constitution;" which jurisdiction may be applied in the apellate form to those decided in the state courts.

Hampden refers also to two judicial decisions, which, he says, "are in full accordance with his principles." These are the case of Hunter v. Fairfax, and the case of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania v. Cobbett. In the first case he says the court of appeals of Virginia declared "an act of congress unconstitutional, although it had been sanctioned by the opinion of the supreme court of the United States."

This is true; and it is the only example furnished by any court in the union of a sentiment favorable to that "hydra in government, from which," says the Federalist, "nothing but contradiction and confusion can proceed." But it is also true that this decision was reversed by the unanimous opinion of the supreme court, and has, notwithstanding the acknowledged respectability of the court of appeals of Virginia, been disapproved by every state court, and they are not a few, which has had occasion to act on the subject. The supreme court, as we perceive in the reports, has reversed the decisions of many state courts founded on laws supported by a good deal of state feeling. In every instance, except that of Hunter and Fairfax, the judgment of reversal has been acquiesced in, and the jurisdiction of the court has been recognized. If the most unequivocal indications of the public sentiment may be trusted, it is not hazarding much to say, that, out of Virginia, there is probably not a single judge, nor a single lawyer of eminence, who does not dissent from the principles laid down by the court of appeals in Hunter and Fairfax.

Hampden's representation of the case of the commonwealth and Cobbett is entirely inaccurate. In that case, the supreme court of Pennsylvania did not come to the resolutions he recapitulates, nor, "go on to render a judgment bottomed on those principles, and in opposition to the provisions of an act of congress."

The case, as reported in the 3d Dal, is this:—Cobbett had been guilty of an offence against the criminal code of Pennsylvania, and had been bound in a recognizance to be of good behaviour. His recognizance having been put in suit, he endeavored to remove the cause into the federal court on an affidavit that he was an alien. This motion was opposed, not on the unconstitutionality of the act of congress, but on its construction. The counsel for the commonwealth contended that the case was not within the act,—1st because it gave the circuit court no jurisdiction in a cause where a state was a party; and 2dly because it was not, properly speaking, "a civil suit;" but was incidental to, and in the nature of, a criminal action.

On these grounds the court decided that the act of congress did not embrace the case.

When the decision was about to be made, chief justice McKean, who was, not long afterwards, elected governor of Pennsylvania, whether in his character as a candidate or a judge, I submit to every intelligent reader, thought proper to deliver a political disquisition on the constitution of the United States. "Previous to the delivery of my opinion," he says, "in a cause of so much importance, as to the consequences of the decision, I will make a few preliminary observations on the constitution and laws of the United States of America." He then proceeds with the political disquisition stated by Hampden. But this is so far from being a part of the opinion of the court, that it was neither understood, nor stated, even by himself, as belonging in any manner to the cause. After having finished this dissertation, he says, "I shall now consider the case before us." The opinion of the court is then delivered, in which not one syllable indicating the unconstitutionality of the act of congress is to be found. It was held not to comprehend the case.

This decision then, so far from questioning the validity of an act of congress, clearly recognizes its authority. The construction given to the act was, I presume, tho't correct by Mr. Cobbett's counsel, or he would have brought the question before the Federal courts.

A FRIEND OF THE CONSTITUTION.

Extract of a letter from Philadelphia received in this town, dated the 11th inst.

"It is not certain that the YELLOW FEVER is here. Some have died with a fever of a high grade, but it is not spreading.—It is confined to Market-street wharf; and those who have recently been taken with it, have been removed to the country; and the alarm is subsiding."

STATE BANKS OF VIRGINIA.

It is stated in the last Richmond Enquirer, that the two State Banks have determined to divide no more of the profits of the last six months than will be sufficient to pay the instalment of the bonus to the Commonwealth, which amounts to one and a quarter per cent on the capital stock in each Bank. The Stockholders, of course will receive no part of the dividend. The directors, it is said, have determined to maintain specie payments, and to preserve their capital undiminished.

The Farmer's and Mechanic's Bank at Nashville suspended specie payments on the 18th of June. The Directors assert, that "the Bank is well able to meet all its engagements in specie, but they deemed the suspension advisable, as well for the interest of the community, as for that of the institution."—The Nashville and State Banks and their branches, it is said, have resolved to continue their specie payments.

Philadelphia, July 10.

HEALTH OF THE CITY.

We do not know of any period at this season of the year, when our city has been more healthy than at present. Some rumors having spread abroad of the existence of the Yellow Fever here, we have been very particular and minute in our enquiries on the subject, and find that there is not one case of it in Philadelphia. Two or three persons, one of whom died, were attacked with fever last week, in a more than usually malignant form. This circumstance probably gave rise to temporary alarm, which has been magnified as it travelled, into the yellow fever. Every precaution has been adopted by the Board of Health to preserve the health of the city.

Charleston, July 7.

FIRE.

The festivities in honor of our great national Anniversary were succeeded on Monday night, by a most distressing event, which, together, with an immense destruction of property, has, rendered houseless a number of industrious citizens. About one o'clock a fire was discovered in the front shop of Mr. Brodie, baker, in Meeting street, next door to the corner of Market-street, which soon communicated to the large building on the corner, occupied by Mr. Douglass, grocer, and Mr. Gallaway, innkeeper, and in its progress consumed all the buildings in Market-street to the tenement occupied by Mr. Frean, on King street, and all the buildings on Meeting-street up to that occupied by Mr. Pierce—in all about twenty buildings, which were occupied by the following and several other persons. On Meeting-street by Mr. Brodie, baker; Mr. Nevill, cabinet maker; Mr. M'Intosh, do.; Mr. Gros, ; Mr. Mordecai, gunsmith; Mr. Godfroy, painter; the last by Mrs. Swinton. The corner by Messrs. Galloway and Douglass, On Market street by Mr. Douglass as a dwelling house; Mr. Ling, coachmaker; Mr. Guie, tinman; and the last by Mrs. Sifley.—There is little doubt that the fire was communicated by some daring incendiary, two attempts having been previously made to fire the same premises.

The PATRIOT states that "the scarcity of water, owing to the dryness of the season, was felt as a serious evil. The wind fortunately was not high, and our citizens were generally very active, to which circumstances we probably owe the saving of one third of the city from destruction, as there are a great many wooden buildings in the neighborhood. When the flames were first discovered by Mr. Brodie, they were seen bursting from the front part of the dwelling in which he resided. He states that he had retired to bed but a short time before, and that there was no appearance or indication of fire, but such was the rapidity of its progress, that it was with difficulty himself and wife saved their lives.'

New-York, July 10.

EXECUTION.

Rose Butler, the colored woman, convicted of arson, was executed yesterday afternoon, at two o'clock, at Potter's field, in the presence of a numerous concourse of people.—She was conveyed to the fatal spot in a carriage, attended by two female members of the Methodist Society, a clergyman and a physician; followed by other carriages filled with commiserating friends. Her ascent to the gallows was firm but tremulous. Mr. Bell, the sheriff, performed his duty in person, in his official full dress. His manner was firm and dignified. Just before she reached the gallows, the unfortunate Rose asked for a drink of water, which was handed to her. She has made no disclosure of accomplices, which, by her respite, was calculated on. We hope she has repented, and went into eternity in a pardon-asking mood. Her last words were, "I am satisfied as to the justness of my fate—it is all right."

Ever since her confinement, her health had gradually declined, she having been reduced one fourth in weight. Her mind had been seriously exercised, and she was at times extremely peevish. There is no foundation for the numerous reports of her outrageous conduct. She was about 20 years of age, was never married, and never had a child, as has been reported. Some memorandums of her conversation during her confinement have been made, which we understand will be published.

We are happy to learn that the colored people of this city, being convinced of the enormity of the crime, are generally reconciled to the fate of Rose Butler, and it is hoped that no offence of a similar nature will ever again occur.

LATEST FROM HAVANA.

By the fast sailing schr. Calypso, capt. Drew, arrived on Sunday, in 5 days from the Havana, we received the papers of that city to the 26th ult. The following are our correspondent's letters:—

"Havana, 19th June, 1819.

"My last was per schr. Comet, with our Diairo up to the 15th inclusive; since which, nothing of moment has occurred.—Annexed you have a note of arrivals and and departures. Business grows duller and duller, daily. Provisions continue in demand, though the prices have been somewhat checked by the arrivals of three or four cargoes of Tasajo (Jerked Beef) which is selling on board at the enormous price of 4½ a 4¾ dolls. the arrobe, or 25 lbs. Rice, prime white, will command 7 dolls. but the arrival of 2 or 300 tierces, which may be momently expected from your quarter, will send it down to 5½; prime Philadelphia flour will command 18 dolls. New-Orleans, 14½ or 15—importations of this latter article have been very trifling, and some improvement may be looked for; Lumber is in demand, pine boards and scantling, per cargo, (one fifth scantling) 32 dolls.; Shooks with heading, 9 rs. each; New-York hoops, 35 dolls. per M. I am sorry my communications affords so little interest; but in this country a man must think twice before he speaks, and in writing he cannot be too circumspect.

Our weather continues unfavorable for foreigners, excessively hot, and rain almost daily—the fever has not abated, and should the weather continue, we shall all get sick."

"June 26.

"The Calypso sails in the morning, but I have nothing new to communicate; I lost the opportunity by the Margaret, for which, I fear you'll blame me.

American produce improving a little—but few arrivals having taken place—last sales, rice 7 dolls. 12½ cts.—Philad flour, fresh, 18; N. Orleans 14½ a 15; mess beef 23; No. 1 and 2 Boston, 17 a 20; codfish 7 to 8. Our own produce steady. Nothing of a political nature stirring."

Extract of a letter from the agent of a very respecrable house in Boston, dated Calcutta, Feb. 18 1819,

Silk and Cotton piece goods, scarce and high.

Extract of a letter from Porto, to a respectable house in Boston, dated 18th May.

We hasten to inform you that advices have been this day received from Lisbon, of a duty having been levied on all foreign wheat, and Indian corn, imported to this country, say 80 rs. per alquere on wheat and 100 do. do. on Indian corn; to take place from the date of the decree, 13th inst. This must put a stop to all speculations in those articles to this from your country, as soon as it becomes known with you; and we trust that before this reaches, you will not have entered into speculations, as they cannot fail to prove ruinous.

The suddenness of this decree is certainly very unjust, and you will oblige us by giving it publicity, as we have not time to advise our friends generally.

From Buenos Ayres, 28th April, 1819, received in Philadelphia.

"An armistice having been made with the people of Sante Fe, whose warlike operations lately cut us off from all intercourse with the interior, it is now hoped that markets will improve.

"A change of directors is expected soon.

"Captain Wooster, of New-York, who some time ago captured the Spanish frigate Maria Isabel, and lately gave in his resignation on account of some misunderstanding with lord Cochrane, has preserved his rank because the government was unwilling to dispense with his services.

"The whale ships Planter, Chase, and Independence, Swain, were in sight of Valparaiso, January 28.

"The whale ship Factor sailed on the 13th of March from Valparaiso for the United states.

"The whale ship Martha, Weeks, eight months from Nantucket, arrived at Valparaiso on the 12th of March, with 250 jars of oil.

"The whale ship Persia, Cross, 6 months from Nantucket, arrived at same place on the 13th of March without oil.

Land for Sale

I WILL sell a great bargain in a small tract of land, containing about 150 acres, more or less, lying on the Potomac river and Monroe's creek, between the two, on the north side said creek, and forming the mouth, whereon William Williams has for many years resided. This situation would be particularly convenient for any person who follows the water, the Creek forming an excellent harbor, and the neighborhood being wealthy, constant freights might be got. The land is susceptible of great improvement, and is the very best wheat land in all the neighborhood. As it is presumed any person wishing to purchase will first view the premises, a further description is thought unnecessary. For terms apply to the subscriber, near Mattox Bridge, Westmoreland county, Virginia.

July 13 S. A. MARSTELLER auct.

Public Sale.

ON FRIDAY, the 9th instant, at 12 o'clock of that day, by virtue of a deed of trust, we will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, on the premises, that very valuable tract of land in Fairfax county, near Holmes's Run, and about four miles from Alexandria, generally known by the name of containing about 115 acres. This land is about one half in wood—the balance cleared, and in cultivation, with convenient buildings on it, and excellent water near them. A considerable proportion of the open land is fertile, and well calculated for timothy meadows.

The sum of $2,254 77 cts will be required to be paid in cash; for the residue a credit of twelve months will be given from the day of sale, the purchaser paying interest thereon, and giving satisfactory security for the punctual payment thereof. A conveyance will be made when the purchase money and interest is all paid up. If the terms of the sale should not be complied with by the purchaser, the premises will be immediately re-sold to the highest bidder, at the risque of the person to whom it shall have been struck off; and the same course will be repeated until an effectual sale shall have taken place.

The Sale of the above property is postponed till SATURDAY the 17th inst. at 12 o'clock

Sale of Valuable Land.

BY virtue of a deed of trust, the subscriber will offer at public sale, at Mr. Hardy's tavern, Piscataway, on Thursday, 5th August, next, several tracts or parcels of land, on Mattawoman Run, about three miles from Piscataway, lying partly in Prince George's county, and partly in Charles county, called and known by the names of Strile, Bonton enlarged, Friendship & Smallwood's meadows. Thompson's Hoop Thickets, and four acres of land adjoining, containing in the whole 420 acres, 1 rood, 18 perch, more or less; which said lands were heretofore conveyed by Thomas Mundell, esq. trustee for the sale of the real estate of N. Blacklock, late of Charles co. deceased, to N. F. Blacklock, late of Alexandria, and by him to the subscriber.

These lands have been, I am told, considerably improved lately by the use of clover and plaster: their susceptibility of still further improvement by these easy means, and their nearness to the Potomac, render them certainly very desirable.

Terms of sale—two thousand dollars to be paid on the day of sale, and the balance on the 1st day of January, 1820, when possession will be given. Upon the payment of the whole of the purchase money, the subscriber will execute a good and sufficient deed, conveying to the purchaser all the right and title of the late N. F. Blacklock, subject to the widow's dower.

JOHN HOPKINS

Hill and Dale, April 20.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be governed by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment. may 25

PROSPECTUS

Of a new periodical work to be published in the city of Washington, entitled the Washington Theological REPERTORY.

EDITORS: Rev. Wm Hawley, Washington, Rev. Wm. H. Wilmer, Alexandria, Rev. Oliver Norris, Alexandria, Rev. Reuel Keith, Georgetown.

Assisted by several other literary gentlemen of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

IF any apology were necessary for this undertaking, it may be found in the fact, that there is no publication on a similar plan, in all that section of our country lying south of New-York, and but one in the whole of the United States. It has been matter of equal surprize and regret, that the Episcopal Church should be so far behind other Christian denominations, in similar efforts to disseminate the principles of religion and piety. At a period like the present, when the Lord is preparing his way on earth, by the most remarkable efforts of human agency, and the most wonderful operations of his providence and grace—when we perceive in every part of Christendom, a praise-worthy emulation to share in the glorious work of filling the earth with the knowledge of the only true God, and his Son Jesus Christ; it would seem criminal for any to withhold their exertions, however feeble, in the great enterprize of human happiness and salvation. The editors have, therefore, felt it their duty to make this humble effort to supply this acknowledged deficiency on the part of the church in this section of the country, and to bear their share in the common exertions of Christians to promote the Redeemer's Kingdom. And having obtained the services of a gentleman, in whose talents and principles they have confidence, whose time will be wholly devoted to the superintendence of the work, they feel encouraged to solicit the patronage of the public.

The publecation will be conducted under the immediate inspection and control of the above named editors, who will form a committee to review every article intended for publication. The principles upon which it will be conducted are those of the bible, as illustrated in the articles, Liturgy and Homilies of the Protestant Episcopal Church. As members of this church the editors will feel bound to support the Apostolical character of her institutions, the pious tendency of her rites and ceremonies, and the evangelical nature of her doctrines. But in these, and all other discussions, they hope never to loose sight of that great law of charity which teaches us to "preserve the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace."

Acting upon those catholic principles, so long and so successively pursued by "The Christian Observer," their chief object will be to inculcate sound theological knowledge, and to delineate and recommend pure and vital religion. They trust therefore, that while the members of every Christian denomination may find something edifying and instructive, none will discover any just cause for offence in the pages of this work. General subjects of biblical criticism, practical illustrations of scriptural truth, the biography of illustrious persons, evidences of the truth of revelation, essays on the history and polity of the church, reviews of interesting publications, religious, literary and philosophical intelligence—in short, whatever is connected with the promotion of religion, humanity and literature, will find a place in this repository.

The testimony of experience supersedes the necessity of dwelling on the advantages of a periodical publication on the plan proposed. Its obvious tendency will be to render the various departments of religious knowledge more easy and accessible, and give a more ready currency and wider circulation, to those great truths which involve the present welfare and future destiny of man.

It will tend powerfully to stimulate the exertions of the editors, and console them under the difficulties attendant on the prosecution of this work, amidst many other avocations, should it prove the means under the blessing of God, of enriching any of its readers with the saving knowledge of Christ, and prepare them for a participation in the felicity and glory of his heavenly kingdom. With this hope they commit it into his hands, and confidently solicit their brethren of the clergy and laity to assist them in carrying into effect the objects of the undertaking.

TERMS OF THE WORK.

A volume of the Repertory shall consist of twelve numbers, of which one shall be published on the first day of every month, containing thirty-two large octavo pages, stitched in blue, and attended with a table of contents.

The paper used in the work shall be good, and the typography executed with the greatest care.

The price of a volume is two dollars, payable in advance; to such as omit the advance, two dollars and fifty cents.

It is designed to enlarge the size of the work, without increasing the price, as soon as one thousand subscribers shall be obtained.

Communications and remittances may be directed to any of the editors, post paid.

Any person becoming responsible for five subscribers, shall receive a sixth copy gratis.

The first number may be expected in the month of July. June 26
